The members of the grand jury finished their work at the session of the county court at Newfane, and were discharged yesterday afternoon. Eleven indictments were found. The case of the Estey Organ company vs. the estate of S. H. Sherman is still on trial. The defence will probably finish its testimony Friday afternoon, but the arguments will undoubtedly prolong the case through the week.

A leading city newspaper stated in its Sunday edition that Gen. Miles had selected the First Vermont as one of the regiments to assist in the reorganization of Porto Rico, according to the plans that may be adopted by the peace commissioners Some people believe that they see a substantlation of the rumor in the commis sioning of two new Heutenants of company K of Bennington, so soon before the expected time for mustering out the regi-ment. The general belief, however, among men in touch with those in authority, is that the regiment will be mustered early in October. The orders for mustering out apply to nearly 100,000 volunteers, and it is thought that those not covered by the orders will be required to erve out their full time.

Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Toles, who went to Montpeller two years ago, have returned to make Brattleboro their home. Mr. Toles has had a position as steward of called, which consumed the remainder of the forenoon session, and many cases were disposed of in the manner above indicated.

In the afternoon a jury was impaneled to try the case of S. H. Sherman's estate vs. The Estey Organ company, which is an action of trover to recover the value of a large quantity of wood and lumber which the plaintiff claims was mortgaged to the ntestate by F. M. Waite and that the defendant subsequently converted to his own use. The plaintiff claims to recover the intestate's interest in said lumber to the amount of $3500 and interest thereon, evidenced by two notes executed by said Waite to Sherman, one for $1000 dated 27, 1891, and the other for $2500 dated March 14, 1892.

The wood and lumber was situated in rewarded Friday by hearing that the boy was a member of a New York regiment and that he was ill of typhoid fever at Camp Thomas, Hemstead, L. L. The the town of Chesterfield, N. H. Legal questions were raised as to the validity of the mortgages held by Sherman and also as to the advisability of evidence given by Sherman at a former trial of this case as shown by a transcript of the stenographer's minutes, also to the advisability of certain depositions offered by the plaintiff, and pending a ruling by the court upon the testions raised, a recess was taken until Wednesday morning. This case has been tried twice before by ury and twice in the supreme court and olds fair to have a larger number of legal questions raised than at any former trial.

A man's wife should always be the same, especially to her husband, but if she is weak and nervous and usee Carter's Iron Pills, she cannot be, for they make her "feel like a different person," so say they all, and their husbands say so too!

STOLEN BUGGY AND HARNESS!

Property Taken from John Taft's Valued at $50; No trace has been found of the buggy and harness stolen from John Taft's in West Dummerston Tuesday night. It is believed that the thief secured a horse from some pasture, and drove away with the buggy. The buggy twas a Concord, nearly new; red running gear; black body; nickel rail around body and side of seat and over dasher; also nickel lining inside hubs; drop axle; upholstered in light gray cloth. There was a plush robe, black on one side and figured on the other. The harness was new, nickel trimmed, with round wire terrets and water hook, over-draw check and large leather bit; yellow felt pad on breast collar and saddle. Deputy Sheriff F. W. McClure of Brattleboro is at work on the case and any information regarding the stolen property should be sent to him. Mr. Taft's loss is

Way to the Plattsburg Barracks. A hospital train of thirteen cars, carrying over 200 sick soldiers from Montauk to the barracks at Plattsburg, passed through here Wednesday evening about 10:15 o'clock. A number of people heard that the soldiers were coming through Brattleboro, and a large crowd had gathered on the platform when the train reached here. The men in the cars were for the most part convalescents who had been taken ill when they were in Cuba. They were all regulars, some being from the 3rd Cavalry, some from the 21st Infantry and others from various regular regiments. Several members of colored regiments were on the train. Most of the men were asleep when he train reached here, but a few who were awake opened the car windows and talked with the crowd. The train stopped about minutes before continuing its way

Brattleboro Is Not Alone in the Demand for More Ice. That Brattleboro is not alone in the decodrug store. mand for more ice is apparent from the following item from the Springfield Re-publican: "The Hygienic les company has decided, in spite of the ice famine which seems likely to come this fall, not to raise their prices. They have demands from Hartford, Pittsfield and Brattleboro, which would tak; more than their whole product. They have decided not to supply these un til they have given Springfield consumers all they need. The scarcity of ice locally has compelled the owners of ice houses t cut off a number of the peddlers, whom they sell to, and already the demands are increasing for the manufactured article. Last Saturday was the largest day which the company has yet experienced, 47 tons being disposed of. The capacity of the plant is only 50 tons, and it is possible that an addition to the plant will be built next year.

The Brattleboro jelly company has ought this season 4.250,000 encumbers for pickling, which will make about 3000; barrels of pickles. These are sold all over New England, New York and the South This year's crop of cucumbers is the larg-Eugene Akley raised a little over 240,000 cucumbers from one acre of ground, for which he received $240, while W. C. Cushing raised 214,044, John T. Wright 170,758, and C. D. Whitman, from acres, 257,866 cucumbers, at the rate of $1 a 1000. The vinegar for pickling comes from the West and contains 6 per cent malt, the balance corn and rye. The price of vinegar is double that of two years ago, but the jelly company finds it of bet-ter quality than that made from cider, so it exchanges boiled cider for the western product. The company is buying apples at 20 cents a 100 pounds, as against though there is a scarcity of fruit.
